Soulidifly Productions to launch new digital streaming TV network delivering positive human stories to audiences worldwide

SoulVision.TV to offer 200+ hours of fresh content 24/7 accessible on leading streaming platforms and mobile devices

Richmond, VA (Feb. 13, 2020) – Soulidifly Productions, a company with a mission to produce meaningful, uplifting stories that are entertaining and beautifully told, has created SoulVision.TV, a new digital streaming network with an emphasis on authentic and positive human stories.

Launching on Valentine’s Day – Friday, February 14 – with over 200 hours of fresh content, SoulVision.TV will be accessible from all leading streaming platforms – Apple TV, Roku, Amazon Fire – and on all mobile platforms, tablets and other devices including smart TVs and home computers.

“We live in a 500-channel world, and all too often it’s the same thing: Crime TV. Drama TV. Violence TV. Traditional TV has become so stressful,” said BK Fulton, founding CEO of Soulidifly Productions and Chairman of SoulVision.TV. “We decided to create something different. SoulVision.TV is a place to find positive, often untold, human stories accessible to anyone on the planet.”

SoulVision.TV programming will offer long-form and short-form content including feature films and movies, TV shows, news, interviews, cartoons and more. Stories of fame, heroism, love, exploration and excellence align with Soulidifly’s mission to tell positive, uplifting stories of multiethnic and multigenerational people across various life experiences and eras.
